The Mackinac Art Scene

The picturesque beauty of Mackinac has attracted numerous highly accomplished landscape painters to the Island. You may actually see plein-air artists at work painting around the Island during your visit. Plein-air means on location outdoors and is a perfect fit for artists to paint the Island's scenic landscape. Browse through an array of Island galleries and begin your own Mackinac art collection.

Renowned artist Noel Skiba has created a collection of artwork that centers around impressionistic paintings that are spirited and colorful. Noel is an award winning artist who loves to paint. She can frequently be found painting plein-air around the island or in her studio on the waterfront behind Bay View B&B. Call Noel at 616-309-6413 Mackinac's Little Gallery on Market Street, is a charming venue where works of regional artists are on display depicting local scenes of Mackinac Island, and vignettes of carriage drivers, dock porters, fudge makers, pet portraits and more. Also features beautiful equine and watercolor botanical originals, sculptures, and artistic custom jewelry. Stop by or call 906-847-6400.

Bicycling on Mackinac

Exploring on your bicycle is the preferred way to get around and see Mackinac Island. Bring your own or rent bikes on the Island and ride the eight mile perimeter route along M-185. It's the easiest, most popular ride and a good way to acquaint yourself with the Island's beauty. The ride around the Island is mostly flat, very scenic, and takes about an hour without stopping. But what's the rush? You'll want to go slow, take photos and enjoy the beauty, so allow at least 2 hours.

INSIDE TIP: For a little more challenging ride, there are numerous trails in the Island's interior offering a variety of rolling paved roads and bike paths, beautiful wooded trails and for advanced cyclists, steep rocky routes for expert riders on mountain bikes only. Mackinac offers biking for cyclists of all levels of abilities.

REMEMBER: Always use caution, stay to the right side of the road or trail and remember horses and pedestrians have right of way.

Fudge!

Mackinac Island is known for its world famous, hand made fudge. Skilled candy makers on Mackinac have been making fudge for millions of customers for well over 100 years. You can buy a box of the famous fudge and save it as a souvenir, ship some home to friends and family or enjoy the delicious treat as soon as you hit the street and eating it right out of the box. There are several very reputable candy makers on the Island, all with a history of making the best chocolate and fudge in the world.

Watching the fudge being made at Murdick's Fudge is a real experience. The smell of the delicious confectionary, as it cools on a big marble slab, is blown into the street enticing many a sweet tooth to come and sample a flavor. Most stores, such as Sander's Fine Chocolates, offer free samples and what a great way to find your favorite kind and flavor among the numerous fine candies they offer.

May's Fudge, whose family has been making fudge for over 80 years, is one of the oldest fudge shop on Mackinac Island with 5 generations of candy makers. In the 1940's, sugar rationing caused May's to open at noon to a waiting line of customers who were limited to a purchase of one pound of fudge. These days, hundreds of pounds of fudge are made and sold every day to keep up with the demand for Mackinac's favorite souvenir.

Ryba's Fudge Shops knows that it's nearly impossible not to notice the sweet aroma of fudge wafting out of their store and into the streets. You are welcome to watch them make fudge at their Main Street location. While there, try some of their delicious caramel corn, salt water taffy and the buttery english toffee too.

Joann's Fudge is another fine candy maker on Mackinac who offers gift certificates and online ordering. Now you can order more fudge from home. There's nothing better than the sweet smell of fresh made fudge, so why not indulge and buy a box or three. After all, it's what Mackinac is famous for.

Shopping

Mackinac Island has been a hub of commerce and trading for centuries. After the war of 1812, fur trappers came to the Island to trade their animal pelts for food and provisions. As the fur business faded in the 1870s, tourism grew to become Mackinac's primary industry. Island residents adapted to the changing business economy from furs to tourism. Native Americans and Islander entrepreneurs began selling souvenirs to visitors. Woven sweet grass baskets, carved trinkets, pottery and birch bark novelties were typical items sold to Island visitors to remember their visit to Mackinac. These were the first souvenirs sold on Mackinac.

Ever since, visitors to the Island have wanted souvenirs of their own to take home. Buying a keepsake item, a memento or reminder of Mackinac is a wonderful idea, but the merchandise has changed quite a bit since those early years. Mackinac's shops offer high quality clothing, gifts, games, jewelry, sunglasses, soaps, knives, hats, wine, books, artwork, shoes, and custom embroidered shirts, sweats and jackets emblazoned with Mackinac Island logos on them.

Because there are no chain stores or formula retail on the Island, shopping here means you'll find distinctive, one-of-a-kind treasures. Most of the stores are in close proximity so you can visit a wide variety of stores and merchandise in a short period of time. Main Street and Market Street are within easy walking distance from all hotels and boat docks.

Mackinac Island is full of wonderful shops and charming boutiques. Whether it's something you need, something you want, or a gift from Mackinac to bring home to someone you love, you'll find it at one of the many shops and boutiques on the Island.
