Tidal estuaries, long sandy beaches, accented by rocky headlands and scenic offshore rocks, all bordered by lush evergreen forests describe Lincoln County—Heart of the Oregon Coast™. Everywhere you look you will see spectacular views. Lincoln County is also home to Oregon's newest parks, Ichwhit (Bear) Creek Park located almost six miles from Highway 101 on Highway 229 and Beaver Creek State Natural Area just off Highway 101 at milepost 149.0.

Located midway between the Washington and California borders, U.S. Highway 101 (Pacific Coast Scenic Byway and All-American Road) follows the county's 60-plus miles along the Pacific Ocean. Charming and distinctive towns and villages beckon along this byway. Only about a two-hour drive from the Portland Metro area and an hour drive from the I-5 corridor, Lincoln County is an inviting and convenient destination.

The county, book-ended by Cascade Head to the north and Cape Perpetua to the south, is interspersed by uncrowded, pristine beaches. In Oregon, all coastal beaches are public, a legacy to be shared and treasured. And in Lincoln County, many of these beaches border state parks.

Not to be outdone by nature, the communities of Lincoln County offer an amazing variety of cultural experiences, including art galleries, musical and theatrical performances, a world-class aquarium and marine science center, and historical museums. The area also offers recreational opportunities, including deep-sea fishing and whale-watching trips, hiking and biking trails, top-notch golf courses, and surfing and body boarding. It's easy to find places to go tidepooling, clamming, and crabbing. And for shoppers, there's a multitude of shops and an outlet mall. Restaurants range from four-star to lively drop-in chowder houses, and lodging options run the gamut from tent and RV camping to luxury resorts.

Lincoln County should be considered an all-season destination. Some of the best weather and opportunities for quiet time come in the spring and fall. And winter is best for beachcombing and storm watching. Whenever you come, nothing beats a getaway to the coast.

Cape Perpetua

Parks

Alsea Bay and River The Alsea Bay estuary at Waldport usually has boats pulling in crab or fish of one kind or another. Numerous public docks, marinas, and riverfront restaurants line the Alsea River along Highway 34, especially in the Tidewater area. The estuary also boasts excellent sites for birding and marine wildlife viewing, which is why it's been designated an "Important Bird Area" by the National Audubon Society.

Cape Foulweather The next headland after Depoe Bay was named by Captain James Cook in 1778 on a particularly inclement day. The gift shop there, called The Lookout Observatory, has fabulous views from high above the Pacific ocean and is a real cliffhanger. Great for whale watching and photo opportunities.

Cape Perpetua Visitor Center and Scenic Area Whether it's indoor or outdoor activities, Cape Perpetua Scenic Area can meet a family's needs. The Visitor Center has kids' activities, indoor exhibits, and great views, and provides an orientation to the entire Scenic Area. Outdoors, you can walk to tidepools on the rocky shore, climb up to the Stone Shelter, or hike trails within old-growth forest. You can also drive to a short trail that provides access to the viewpoint and Stone Shelter, the highest point so close to the ocean at 803 feet. www.fs.fed.us/r6/siuslaw

Cascade Head Just north of Lincoln City, this headland marks the northern boundary of Lincoln County. Visit by car and enjoy the spectacular views or bring along a daypack and hike one of the three trails. This designated natural area is home to more than 250 species of birds and mammals. The lower hiking trails wind through forest before opening onto cliffs overlooking the Pacific.

Cape Foulweather

Devils Lake This 3-mile long freshwater lake offers many recreational activities. Located in Lincoln City upstream from D River, the world's shortest river, Devils Lake gained its name from Native Americans. The lake is popular for fishing, waterskiing, and swimming and has kayaks, boats, and fishing-gear rentals available.

Oregon Islands National Wildlife Refuge At last count, 1,853 rocks, reefs, and islands spanning 363 miles of the Oregon coastline comprise Oregon Islands National Wildlife Refuge. In Lincoln County, you can view several of these protected rocks and islands that provide breeding and haul out sites for seals and sea lions and habitat for more than 13 species of seabirds, including tufted puffin, rhinoceros auklet, and Brandt's cormorant. All parts of the Oregon Islands NWR are closed to public entry, but you can view the wildlife from mainland sites at Cape Foulweather, Yaquina Head Outstanding Natural Area, and Seal Rock State Park.

Siletz Bay Estuary A prime location for birding and observing harbor seals, Siletz Bay at the southern end of Lincoln City forms a transition from the meandering Siletz River to the not-so-peaceful Pacific Ocean. Protected as Siletz Bay National Wildlife Refuge, the estuary is a great place to see herons, egrets, osprey, purple martin, and a variety of migrating shorebirds.

Spouting Horns Depoe Bay's seawall and the shoreline at Yachats and Cape Perpetua are favorite spots for watching shoreline geysers that shoot straight up into the air. These spouting horns, a.k.a. blow holes, are caused by waves being forced into lava tubes within the basalt at high tide and are especially impressive during storms. Depoe Bay has the largest spouting horn, which can drench you if you are too close.

Alsea Bay

State Parks Lincoln County offers more than 30 State Parks that have day-use areas and campground facilities that range from extensive overnight facilities at Beverly Beach and South Beach near Newport to the state's most visited wayside park at D River in Lincoln City. We are also home to one of Oregon's newest parks, Beaver Creek State Natural Area. Check out the many options at OregonStateParks.org

Siuslaw National Forest The Siuslaw National Forest is home to more than 350 animal species, including elk, deer, bear and mountain lion. This 625,000-acre forest is east of Waldport and Yachats off Highway 101. The Drift Creek and Cummins Creek wilderness areas offer a host of recreational and scenic pleasures, including hiking, fishing, camping, mountain biking, wildlife viewing, birding, and hunting.

Yaquina Bay and River The bay is home to Yaquina Bay Bridge, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is one of the most photographed bridges in the world. Newport's Bayfront combines a working waterfront with a popular tourist destination. Here you'll see a fleet of fishing boats and charter boats, seafood processors, and stacks of crab pots alongside restaurants, art galleries, family attractions, and many fine murals on the sides of buildings. Yaquina Bay is home to commercial oyster beds and wintering flocks of birds, as well as bayside lodging. A scenic drive leads from the busy Bayfront along tranquil Yaquina River to the charming town of Toledo. Drivers may loop it by returning via Highway 20.

Yaquina Head Outstanding Natural Area Observe gray whales, climb Oregon's tallest lighthouse, explore the natural tidepools, watch thousands of nesting seabirds, or view a resident harbor seal colony. These activities and more are possible when you visit this Bureau of Land Management site located north of Newport. The Natural Area has been designated an "Important Bird Area" by the National Audubon Society. Call 541.574.3100 for hours and fees.

Beachcombing With miles and miles of open, public beaches, the central coast provides excellent beachcombing opportunities, especially after winter storms and during times of high tides. Agates, driftwood, and fossils are the usual finds but shells and glass floats can also be found.

Biking The central coast has long been a destination for cyclists from all around the world, making their way north or south on Highway 101—the Pacific Coast Scenic Byway and All-American Road. The Oregon Department of Transportation publishes a coastal bike route map, including state parks with camping facilities. Lincoln County also maintains a number of bike routes.

A FEW SUGGESTED ROUTES: West Three Rocks Road (2.3 miles), Schooner Creek/Anderson Creek/Drift Creek roads (4.5 miles), Yaquina Bay Road to Toledo (12 miles), Elk City Roads (8.5 miles), Siuslaw National Forest Road 53 (15 miles), and Yachats River Road (10.5 miles). For ODOT maps call 503.986.3556.

Birding The central part of the coast is home to more than 300 species of birds: ranging from bald eagle and peregrine falcon to numerous songbirds and more than 13 species of seabirds that include tufted puffin, common murre, and rhinoceros auklet. Habitats include tidal estuaries and sandy beaches, rocky headlands and offshore islands, rivers and streams, fields and pastures, and mixed woods and deep forest. The central coast also boasts three nationally recognized Important Bird Areas (IBA) designated by the National Audubon Society for their importance to breeding, foraging or resting birds. They include Yaquina Head Outstanding Natural Area, Siletz Bay and Alsea Bay.

OREGON COAST BIRDING TRAIL The Birding Trail is a self-guided driving itinerary highlighting the premier locations for observing birds along the entire Oregon coast and into Northern California. Of the 173 birding hotspots detailed in the guide, 46 are in Lincoln County. Guides are available at visitor centers, through COCA and online. www.OregonCoastBirding.com

TAFT WATERFRONT PARK: At the southern end of Lincoln City, go to the end of 51st Street for Siletz Bay and sandy beach habitats to watch for gulls, grebes, loons and scoters.

YAQUINA HEAD OUTSTANDING NATURAL AREA: North of Newport, in spring and summer, expect to see up to 20,000 nesting common murrelets covering offshore rocky islands and a much smaller number of pelagic cormorants and gulls nesting on the headland.

HATFIELD MARINE SCIENCE CENTER NATURE TRAIL: Just south of the Yaquina Bay Bridge is a one-mile trail bordering Yaquina Bay where songbirds can be found in the bushes and waterfowl in the mudflats.

ECKMAN LAKE AND SLOUGH: From Waldport drive 2.3 miles on Hwy. 34 to see a freshwater lake and estuarine mudflats that attract abundant waterfowl in winter, as well as the fall and spring migrations.

Boating The central coast provides fresh and salt-water boating, whether it's a leisurely cruise in your personal boat or a more challenging ride on the ocean surf in your sea kayak. Boat rental facilities and public launches are located in Lincoln City, Depoe Bay, Newport, Toledo and Waldport. Remember to wear your personal flotation device (PFD).

Harbor Seal at
Otter Rock

Crabbing and Clamming Licenses are now required before you can set your crab pots or dig for clams in Oregon. Yaquina, Alsea and Siletz bays are good places to go and bring new meaning to “fresh seafood” dinners. You can bring your own gear or rent from local bait and tackle shops. Check with shops or marinas for more information about crabbing or clamming, the best places to go, and about fees and licenses.

Fishing The central coast is well known for its excellent commercial and charter fishing fleets at Depoe Bay and Newport. Ocean caught salmon, rockfish, lingcod and halibut have been important fisheries on the coast in spite of seasonal restrictions. Freshwater fishing is popular on Devils Lake in Lincoln City but even more so on the Salmon, Siletz, Yaquina and Alsea rivers for salmon and steelhead. There are several public boat launches in the county, and the Siuslaw National Forest has nearly 2,000 miles of fishable streams. Check with local sport shops and marinas for current limits, licenses and regulations.

Geocaching If you have a GPS unit, you probably know about this exciting activity where individuals and organizations set up caches all over the world, including the cities of the central Oregon coast. Coordinates are shared on the Internet, and it can be quite an adventure—often a family adventure—finding the caches. If a reward goes with a find, then participants are asked to leave something in return. www.GeoCaching.com

Drift Creek Falls

Chinook Winds
Golf Course

Golfing The mixture of courses in Lincoln County supplies the most enjoyment for the greatest number of golfers. These courses require strategy as well as skill. They give the average player a fair chance and at the same time require the utmost from the expert who tries for sub-par rounds.

There are three 18-hole golf courses on the central coast: Chinook Winds Golf Resort in Lincoln City, Salishan Spa & Golf Resort newly renovated by Jacobson-Hardy Golf Course Design and Sandpines Golf Links in Florence.

Golfers who prefer a shorter and faster-paced game will enjoy three additional 9-hole courses within the county: Agate Beach in Newport, Olalla Valley in Toledo and Crestview Golf Club in Waldport.

Agate Beach, Crestview and Salishan all offer driving ranges and PGA instructors most days and will give special classes, schools and private lessons.

When you stay over in Lincoln County, a day trip will get you to the farthest central coast courses.

Hiking Numerous trails await hikers throughout the length and breadth of Oregon's central coast. Choose from those that follow bluffs, streams, or rivers; those that lead to waterfalls; and those that extend into groves of old growth.

THE NATURE CONSERVANCY TRAIL: The Cascade Head National Scenic and Research Area, four miles north of Lincoln City off Highway 101 on Three Rocks Road, has three major hiking paths of which the Interpretive Trail courses two miles over the north and south sides of the headland for spectacular views.

DRIFT CREEK FALLS TRAIL: South of Lincoln City and approximately 12 miles off Highway 101 leads to a 1.5 mile slightly downhill hike to a totally unexpected San Francisco-style suspension bridge, which you have to cross to view the 75-foot waterfall

GIANT SPRUCE TRAIL: Just south of Yachats at Cape Perpetua, hike one mile from the Visitor Center through old-growth forest to the 185-foot tall, 40-foot circumference, 600 year-old giant spruce that has been recently designated an Oregon Heritage Tree.

Marine Wildlife Excursions Year-round marine wildlife trips are available through charterboat companies, which offer affordable rates. Catch sight of whales, as well as other marine animals such as seals, sea lions, porpoises and many seabirds. The peak time for whale watching is March through October.

Skateparks The Oregon Coast has become a mecca for skateboarders because of the new cutting edge skateparks all along the coast. Several are on the central coast: Lincoln City (two skateparks within Kirtsis Park and one has a cradle), Toledo (skaters come from far and wide to skate this smooth park built in 2005), Newport (Sam Moore Parkway sports three bowls), Waldport (interesting configurations here such as an oververt) and Florence (lots of configurations here too and built in 2004). A little farther south in Reedsport you'll find the coast's largest skatepark, with its unique 360-degree loopable concrete full pipe—the only one in the United States. This would make a great day trip for the whole family

Water Sports The winds along the coast make it a very good area for wind and wave surfers, body boarders and kite boarders. The central coast has become a “must-surf” site, especially for board enthusiasts. Lincoln County also offers great locations for kayaking and canoeing on Alsea Bay and River, Yaquina River, Siletz River and D Lake.

Whale Watching The entire eastern Pacific population of gray whales migrates along the Pacific Coast heading south to Mexico's Baja Peninsula in the winter and north to Alaska in the spring, providing great whale-watching opportunities. Depoe Bay and Newport charter boat companies transport people out to see the whales. About 60 whales summer off the central coast right where the Whale Watching Center in Depoe Bay can keep an eye on some of them. The Center is open daily in summer and Wednesday through Sunday the remainder of the year. Call 541.765.3304 for more details.

WHALE WATCHING SPOKEN HERE: This largest program of its kind in the world has two whale-watch weeks during the year where volunteers staff 28 sites along the entire Oregon Coast to watch migrating whales and one week in the summer to watch resident whales. Check out www.WhaleSpoken.org to learn about viewing resident whales from four central Oregon coast sites. The two weeks to watch migrating whales are always December 26–January 1 and during Oregon's school spring break.

DEPOE BAY WHALE WATCH CENTER

Beach Safety Play safely on the beach by knowing what to watch for and what to avoid:

- Don't turn your back on the ocean!
- Beware of sneaker waves.
- Don't play on logs. They can roll in just a few inches of water.
- Look out for deep water and strong currents.
- Know the tides. Tide table booklets are available in many shops.
- Always assume high waves can reach you.
- Steep bluffs can be unstable; avoid the edge.
- Children should NEVER go onto the beach without being under the supervision of an adult.

BEACHCOMBING TIPS

The mild winter temperatures of the coast combined with clean invigorating air provide an ideal setting for year-round beachcombing. The "Discovery Season" from October through April is the best time to explore at low tide after a storm for fossils, agates, colorful jaspers, driftwood, or the elusive Japanese glass floats. The tides uncover beds of gravel in winter, bringing the lighter weight stones (a characteristic of gem material) to the top. If you're not sure what you've found on the beach, stop by the local gem and mineral shop.

As you comb the beach, keep these tips in mind:

- Go slowly, be patient, and look carefully.
- Dig at the water's edge; a garden-variety rake works fine.
- Leave wildlife in their natural habitat.
- Use local area tide tables.
- Check the high tide line, a.k.a. the wrack line, where debris is collected.
- Go early in the morning for the best results.
- Collect your treasures in plastic or nylon mesh bags.
- Rinse your finds in fresh water at home.
- Polish agates and semi-precious stones to add to their luster.

BEACHCOMBING RESPONSIBILITIES

Because the coastline is an important part of the environment, help keep the beaches clean. Bring along an extra plastic bag to collect any trash you come across, and a doggie bag for any four-legged friends with you. Be moderate in the non-living shells and organisms taken, and note that it is illegal to dig fossils out of the bluff. If you turn a rock over to look for specimens, make sure to replace the rock when you are done. It is also illegal in Oregon to touch or harass any marine mammal. Never touch baby seals or other young animals on the beach; most likely their mothers have left them to rest while they hunt. Touching the baby may cause the mother to abandon it.

Covered Bridges Rugged pioneers armed with only hand tools, sweat and ambition began building covered bridges in Oregon during the mid-1850s. The four covered bridges in Lincoln County—the Chitwood on the Yaquina River, Drift Creek at Bear Creek, Fisher School at Five Rivers and North Fork on the Yachats River—offer a peek into the past. Don't forget your camera.

Historic Highway Bridges In 1919 Conde B. McCullough became Oregon's state bridge engineer and initiated the creation of hundreds of custom-designed spans characterized by architectural elegance. His legacy of beautiful bridges lives on and most of his bridges today are considered significant landmarks and several are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Lincoln County is home to four of his historic bridges: Depoe Bay, Rocky Creek, Yaquina Bay and Cummins Creek. Within a short day trip to Florence you can see four additional McCullough bridges.

ALSEA BAY BRIDGE INTERPRETIVE CENTER: Located at the south end of the Alsea Bay Bridge, the Interpretive Center is a big visitor draw in Waldport. Find out about the history of transportation through a timeline; build a bridge through hands-on exhibits; and learn all about the old and "new" (built in 1991) Alsea Bay bridges.

Lighthouses Lincoln County is home to two of the eleven lighthouses that reside along the Oregon coast.

YAQUINA BAY LIGHTHOUSE: Yaquina Bay, built in 1871, once guided mariners at the Yaquina Bay bar, while the stronger beacon built in 1873 at Yaquina Head north of Newport, still welcomes sailors approaching from the north. Yaquina Bay Lighthouse is Newport's oldest remaining building; it has been fully restored and is furnished in early 20th century style. The interpretive museum and gift shop are located in the former lighthouse keeper's home.

Museums and Heritage Sites

History is alive and available to visitors through museums, roadside markers and interpretive centers. Permanent and changing exhibits engage visitors in the stories of the coast's Native Americans, as well as the non-Indian pioneers that settled the land. The Oregon Coast History Center in Newport (www.OregonCoast.history.museum) includes two museums: The Burrows House (a Queen Anne-style historic house) and The Log Cabin. In Toledo, the Toledo History Museum, as well as the Yaquina Pacific Railroad Historical Society's 1922 Baldwin steam engine, "One Spot," and railroad interpretive display are worth visits. In Yachats, you'll find the Little Log Church, a historic building with exhibits still used for special services. In Waldport, the Waldport Heritage Museum covers the area's history and the Alsea Bay Bridge Interpretive Center covers the old and new Alsea Bay bridges. And the North Lincoln County Historical Museum is in the Taft area of Lincoln City.

Oregon Coast Aquarium

Experience the ethereal magic of jellyfish, the magnificent colors and variations of the many species of fish, and the current temporary exhibit at this world-class aquarium. Then head outdoors. Watch sea otters in their pool and sea lions and harbor seals in a separate pool. Watch comical tufted puffins, graceful pigeon guillemots,

As you explore Oregon Coast byways, discover Toledo, a working timber town on a sheltered bend of the Yaquina River, just 10 minutes from the beach. A growing arts community displays artwork in public spaces, galleries, workshops and studios. Shop and stroll the traditional Main Street district, paddle the quiet estuaries, visit centers devoted to rail and community history, shop and dine.

Arts

The arts, both visual and performing, should be on your coastal “list of things to do.” Check out CoastArts.org for what’s happening or call 541.265.2787, or toll free 888.701.7123.

In addition to the wealth of local visual and performing artists, local venues host national touring productions, gallery shows, and displays throughout the year. The arts, in all its lively forms, are indeed a vibrant part of Lincoln County!

Arts The Oregon coast is home to one of the highest concentrations of artists and galleries in the Northwest. These artists work in oil, watercolor, clay, bronze, glass, reeds, wood, textiles, paper, mixed media, photography and the list goes on. It’s an amazing selection.

Performing Arts The performing arts also play a substantial role in the life of coastal residents. Choral groups and big bands, rock-and-roll groups, jazz and blues bands, as well as bluegrass and country groups, bring zest to the coastal musical offerings. The Newport Symphony Orchestra features high-quality symphonic and chamber music throughout the year, and a variety of music festivals bring in regionally and nationally renowned artists. The Cascade Head Music Festival is held twice a year, once in spring and once in fall, and includes world class musical performances in an intimate concert setting. Jazz takes the forefront in early October with the highly acclaimed Jazz at Newport Festival.

Several noted dance troupes also add to the mix, as do community theater groups and a host of well-appointed entertainment venues—principally the Newport Performing Arts Center, the Newport Visual Arts Center and Chinook Winds Casino Resort. Lincoln City’s Theatre West offers year-round live theater and the Lincoln City Cultural Center is a new arts venue.

Culinary

Cooking Classes On the central coast, Lincoln City leads the way in cooking classes. The Pacific Coast Center for Culinary Arts focuses on the foods and heritage of the Northwest through classes taught in a certified professional kitchen.

Dining It's amazing how hungry you can become when having a good time. So when your stomach calls a halt, all you need to do is decide what you're in the mood for. Is it fresh caught seafood or steak done to perfection? A bowl of world-famous clam chowder or spicy Mexican or Thai food? How about gourmet pizza or Chinese or Japanese cuisine? Maybe you just want a cup of cappuccino and a muffin in a trendy coffeehouse? Or just maybe you're planning a special dinner for two accompanied by candles, soft music, and a fabulous central Oregon coast sunset.

Every type of food and atmosphere is offered from upscale elegant dining rooms to casual beachside or river-view cafes. You'll find many feature the freshest Oregon coast seafood and the finest in Northwest regional specialties. And most Lincoln County eateries provide a children's menu.

Quality food at a variety of prices—two more reasons why your stay on Oregon's central coast will leave you with pleasant memories.

Farmers Markets These days, farmers markets have more than fresh produce. Expect to see at least some of the following: specialty foods, baked goods, fresh eggs, potted plants, cut flowers, arts and crafts and entertainment. See page 43 for a list of farmers markets.

Oysters Yaquina Bay oysters are harvested daily six miles east of Newport on Yaquina Bay Road. Oysters have been harvested here since the mid-1800s and at Oregon Oyster Farms since 1907.

Winery The Flying Dutchman Winery in Otter Rock is the only working winery on the Oregon Coast. Grapes from central and southern Oregon are processed using old world winemaking traditions. The salt spray air and cooler coastal temperatures allow for longer fermentation periods resulting in wines with a unique taste and complexity.

Tanger Outlet Center in Lincoln City

Shopping

Shopping Finding that special treasure is easy in Lincoln County. And Oregon's sales-tax-free shopping makes your treasure hunt even more pleasurable! While Lincoln City and Newport provide the largest retail shopping opportunities, every town has its own unique offerings. Tanger Outlets in Lincoln City boasts at least 65 stores and is a popular shopping destination. The communities of Depoe Bay, Newport, Waldport, Seal Rock and Yachats host a healthy mix of shops, galleries, bookstores and seafood markets. Newport, Seal Rock, Toledo and Lincoln City have numerous antique shops where you just might find that special heirloom you've been searching for. Plus, many communities have recently renovated their historic districts making them inviting walking and shopping locales: The Taft and Oceanlake districts of Lincoln City, the Nye Beach area of Newport and Toledo's Main Street now offer charm to spare.

POW-WOWS

Pow-Wows, sponsored by the Confederated Tribes of the Siletz Indians, are family-oriented events. Watch the dancing that involves all age groups from tiny tots to elders. Listen to the drumming and singing, as groups from throughout the Northwest perform. Eat fry bread and admire Native arts and crafts. In August, join the outdoor Pow-Wow in Siletz, and in November, help celebrate the restoration of tribal status at Chinook Winds Casino Resort.

We try to be as accurate as possible when we go to press with the guide. However, sometimes dates and event details change. For additional information on each event, please contact the local chamber of commerce or visitor bureau in the city in which the event takes place. A complete list of Chambers and Visitor Centers is provided on page 86. You are also welcome to check out a more complete list of events on our website at: www.CoastVisitor.com.

Tillamook via Three Capes Loop

North of Lincoln City turn onto the Three Capes Scenic Loop and pass through Pacific City—home of the dory boat fishermen and Cape Kiwanda. Notice (the other) Haystack Rock offshore. Continue to Cape Lookout (which has a great hike out to the end) and to Cape Meares, home of the shortest lighthouse on the coast. In Tillamook, take the self-guided tour at Tillamook Cheese. Also, take in the Tillamook County Pioneer Museum, as well as the local textile museum and impressive air museum with its collection of historic airplanes. Just south of Tillamook off Hwy. 101, turn off for Munson Creek Falls. At 319 feet, it is the tallest falls along the coast, with an easy walk from the parking area but no turn-around for RVs.

Florence via Scenic Drive The drive to Florence passes Cape Perpetua, with its short drive to a scenic overlook; Heceta Head Lighthouse and Lightstation Bed-and-Breakfast, both of which have tours during summer; and Sea Lion Caves, with the largest sea cave in the world. Florence also features two 18-hole golf options. And don't miss Old Town on the riverfront, with its shops, galleries and great places to eat. South of town are two choices for taking a ride in the dunes.

Historic Albany Beautifully restored historic homes in Albany are worth the drive east out of Newport via Highway 20 and Highway 99. Take a self-guided walking tour or drive through the streets to view the most varied collection of historic buildings in Oregon, with styles from the 1840s through the late 1920s, over 100 square blocks.

VISIT CORVALLIS

Walk the beautiful Riverfront Park lined with amazing world class restaurants, bistros, and wine bars. Enjoy self-guided historical walking tours of the beautiful tree lined campus of Oregon State University.

Relocation

RELOCATION

Lincoln County is located almost half-way between the Washington and California borders, and stretches almost 60 miles along Oregon's scenic Highway 101. Walks on the beach are convenient and sunsets over the ocean can be seen any time of the year. Outdoor recreation is plentiful including fishing (both fresh- and salt-water), hiking, biking, boating, kayaking, and the arts abound from small coastal theaters to a symphony orchestra to world renowned opera live from New York. There are many opportunities to become involved with the local community of your choosing. The winters are mild and the summers are cool. If you love the coast but want a bit warmer temperature, drive about a mile in-land where temperatures will be about 10-15 degrees warmer in the summer and about 10 degrees cooler in the winter.

Whether this will be your full-time home or you are considering a vacation home on the central Oregon coast, you will be welcomed into our coastal communities.

COUNTY FACTS

Area: 979.77 square miles (1576.786 km)

Population: 46,034

Lowest point: sea level

Highest Point: Stott Mountain at 3,400 ft.

Time Zone: Pacific Standard

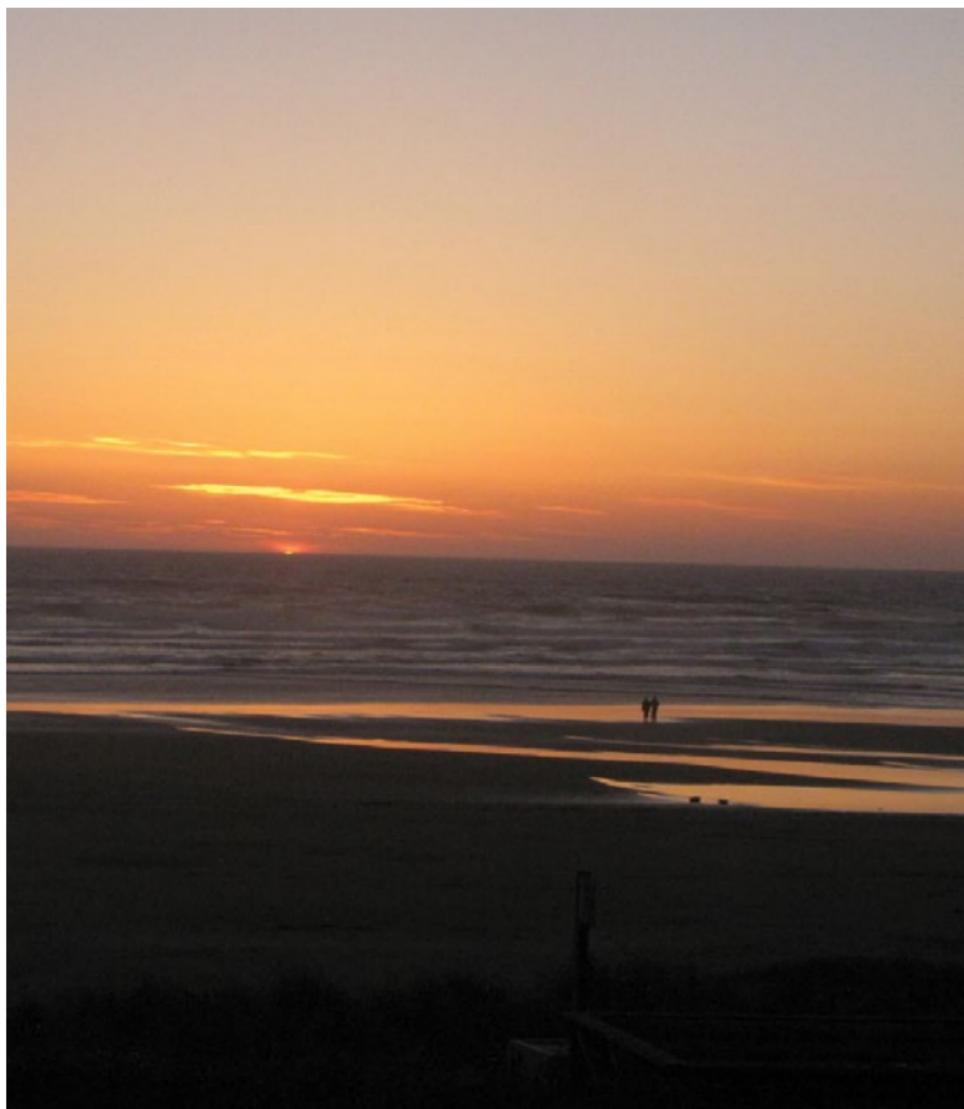

Employment: Fishing, timber products, paper production, health care, recreation and tourism.

REAL ESTATE AND DEVELOPMENT

Whether you are considering relocation or are looking for a second home, Lincoln County has a variety of housing options available. Many residents have not grown up in the area, but have vacationed here and decided to call it home. We invite you to contact one of the many real estate agents to show you some of the single-family homes, condominiums, or community living choices here in the “Heart of the Oregon Coast™.”

GETTING HERE

DRIVING ROUTES

Personal and recreational vehicles still provide the primary modes of travel to most visitors to Oregon's central coast. COCA provides the following routing tips:

From Portland to Lincoln City: Travel south on I-5 to 99W (exit #294), continue west to Newberg. Then follow Highway 18 to the coast, arriving in Lincoln City.

From Portland/Eugene to Newport: Travel I-5 to Corvallis and Highway 34 (exit #228). Then follow Highway 20 to the coast, arriving in Newport.

From Eugene to Florence: Travel Highway 126 west to the coast, arriving in Florence.

Scenic route to Waldport: Take Highway 34 at Philomath to the coast, arriving in Waldport.

Road conditions are available 24 hours a day from the Oregon Department of Transportation, toll free at 800.977.ODOT (6368) or online at www.TripCheck.com.

RENTAL CARS

Car rentals are available at the Albany and Portland rail stations, as well as in Newport and in Lincoln City. Consult your telephone directory or travel provider for assistance.

BUS

Buses provide the original "leave the driving to us" option for Oregon coastal visitors with daily, year-round service available to/from the entire continental United States through Greyhound. Local weekday transit service is available between all communities of Lincoln County by Lincoln County Transit.

Greyhound: 800.231.2222, 541-265-2253

ACCESSIBILITY

2012 marks the 22nd anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. Lincoln County communities and businesses are making their facilities and businesses ever more accessible to the disabled and the elderly by widening their entrances and aisles and providing improved access in other ways.

The central Oregon coast offers excellent opportunities for the disabled traveler, from fully accessible tidepools at the Oregon Coast Aquarium in Newport, to smaller facilities such as the newly renovated Josephine Young Park in Lincoln City and its new accessible picnic area, pathways, and restrooms. Community centers, swimming pools, movie theaters, beach accesses, and city parks on the central Oregon coast offer accessible activities.

And now with many new and remodeled lodging facilities offering elevators, roll-in showers, and truly accessible rooms, the disabled and elderly traveler can have the full beach experience.

The accessible overlook and trail to the Stone Shelter and the trail to Devil's Churn both at Cape Perpetua Scenic Area just south of Yachats are among the best places on the coast to see a spectacular panoramic view and for watching waves crash into each other up close.

FAMILY REUNIONS

Family gatherings have become a summer tradition on the coast. Whether you want to have a small get-together of your closest relatives or a great gathering of everyone you can find dangling on your family tree, Lincoln County offers a variety of locations for your event where your family can relax and visit. From camping to vacation rentals, from charming bed and breakfasts to four-diamond resorts, our area can host a group as large as 1,000 people.

GETTING MARRIED

Congratulations on your decision to get married in Lincoln County! We are sure that you will fall in love with the area no matter what time of year you choose. This portion of Oregon's beautiful coast offers many locations for your special day from a beach or forest setting to a lighthouse to our world-class Aquarium or a historic church.
