WELCOME TO Long Island

Whether you're here with the kids, on your honeymoon, traveling solo, on business or just looking for some good old-fashioned family fun, let us be your guide to a successful and enjoyable Long Island vacation.

Because there are so many attractions within Nassau and Suffolk counties, you'll want to plan your visit with the most up-to-date and accurate information, which can be provided through the helpful services offered by the LICVB. In addition to this guide, we can also provide maps and itineraries, as well as information about packages and discounts available at local attractions.

To help you get your bearings while visiting, we've separated the island into four geographical regions: the North Shore with its historic mansions and harborside villages, the South Shore with its renowned public beaches and sports venues, North Fork wine and farm country, and the South Fork, with its international resort areas of The Hamptons and Montauk.

As you travel around the island, you are likely to see thrilling sights, including panoramic stretches of the Atlantic Ocean or Long Island Sound, beautiful parks and preserves and castle-like historic mansions. Long Island boasts international attractions such as The Hamptons and Montauk, The Gold Coast, Jones Beach, Long Beach and Fire Island; dozens of museums, historic sites (including lighthouses) and over four dozen wineries. All lie within a short distance of the city and major airports, by car or public transport.

For your convenience, a map of Long Island folds out from the inside back cover, and a list of communities is on the inside back cover. For details, visit the LICVB website, discoverlongisland.com, or call, toll-free, 1-877-386-6654.

Getting Here

By Land

Seven bridges and two tunnels within the City of New York connect to the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens in the western end of Long Island. From there it's a short drive east to Nassau and Suffolk counties. Three major express routes run east and west through Long Island:

- » The Long Island Expressway (LIE-Interstate Route 495), Manhattan to Riverhead
- » Northern State Parkway, Queens to Hauppauge
- » Southern State Parkway, Brooklyn and Queens (called the Belt Parkway in those two boroughs) to Oakdale.
- Other east-west routes:
- » Northern Boulevard (Route 25A)

- » Jericho Turnpike (Route 25)
- » Sunrise Highway (Route 27)
- » Merrick Road/Montauk Highway (Route 27A)

Railroad

The Long Island Rail Road (LIRR) serves the Nassau-Suffolk County region, at 124 stations in communities throughout Long Island. For schedules and rates call 516-822-LIRR or visit mta.info/lirr.

Buses

Buses serve most of the Island's communities and stop at many railroad stations, shopping malls, airports, colleges and even beaches. Nassau County NICE bus: 516-228-4000 or www.nicebus.com Suffolk County Transit: 631-852-5200 or www.sct-bus.org Motorcoach companies offer scheduled service and tours from New York City to various communities, such as Hampton Jitney, Hampton Luxury Liner and 7 Bus offering service to Long Island's East End.

By Air

Three major airports serve Long Island. Long Island Islip MacArthur Airport in Ronkonkoma offers scheduled flights through a number of different carriers and includes a Southwest Airlines terminal in the Veterans Memorial Concourse. JFK International and LaGuardia airports are located in Queens just across the Nassau County border.

AN OVERVIEW OF Long Island

Welcome to our Island...

Long Island is a unique region for visitors to explore. One of the nation's oldest settled areas, the island played a significant role in many historic eras, including the pre-Colonial period, the American Revolution, the Gilded Age, the birth of aviation and the Space Age. In addition to historic sites, preserved estates and museums, the island is a recreational magnet, with dazzling beaches, sun-dappled vineyards, great restaurants (including farm-to-table), world-class golf courses and international resort communities.

Although tourism peaks during the summer and fall, Long Island is a year-round destination with numerous concert venues, wildlife preserves, malls and historic downtowns. There's always something new to see or do with new attractions opening and established attractions updating their facilities.

The following pages show the many ways to discover Long Island.

A PERFECT Beach Day

Happiness is a day at the Beach

JULY AND AUGUST ARE PEAK MONTHS AT THE SHORE, BUT YOU DON'T NEED TO WAIT FOR AN 80-DEGREE DAY TO ENJOY THE PLEASURES OF RELAXING AMID SPARKLING WHITE SAND AND OCEAN PANORAMAS. MOST BEACHES ARE OPEN YEAR-ROUND. FROM LONG BEACH AND JONES BEACH IN NASSAU COUNTY, TO FIRE ISLAND IN WESTERN SUFFOLK COUNTY, TO THE BEACHES OF THE HAMPTONS, MONTAUK AND THE NORTH FORK, LONG ISLAND IS A PUBLIC BEACHGOER'S PARADISE WHETHER YOU'RE A SWIMMER, BEACHCOMBER, SUNBATHER, BOARD OR BODY SURFER OR NATURE LOVER.

Two Famous Boardwalks

For centuries, the barrier beaches of Long Island's South Shore have been a destination for lovers of sand, surf and sports. From the west, the first barrier island is Long Beach, a home to the bustling City of Long Beach with its residential population and renowned two-and-one-half mile boardwalk, on a stretch of the Atlantic Ocean that's a favorite spot for beach-goers, surfers and runners. Park Avenue in Long Beach is lined with many shops and restaurants and leads east to the communities of Lido Beach and Point Lookout, with their popular beaches and restaurants.

Eastward, world-famous Jones Beach State Park in Wantagh is a glittering 2,000-acre playland at the southern end of the Wantagh and Meadowbrook Parkways. The Jones Beach Boardwalk features beautiful historic buildings, the Nikon at Jones Beach Theatre, and seven miles of sparkling white sand.

Fire Island & More

In Suffolk County, the South Shore barrier beaches rank among the most scenic parks in New York State. The westernmost island includes the seaside communities and town beaches of Gilgo Beach, Cedar Beach and Oak Beach and ends at the Captree State Park Boat Basin, home base for a fleet of fishing and tour boats. Fire Island, designated a federal National Seashore, is 32 miles long. Separated from the mainland by the Great South Bay, it extends from Robert Moses State Park in the west to Smith Point County Park in the east, both accessible by auto bridges. In between, and mainly accessible by passenger ferry, are 17 small resort communities.

The Best Beaches in the U.S.

East End beaches, which stretch for 50 miles, can be astonishingly beautiful – including two that are top-rated in the nation. Stephen P. Leatherman of Florida International University (aka Dr. Beach) has consistently rated Coopers Beach in Southampton and Main Beach in East Hampton among the top 10 beaches in America. Main Beach was rated the #1 beach in 2013, and several years ago, Coopers Beach was also rated #1.

You'll find beaches known for family crowds, sandcastle contests, quiet sunbathing, college students, surfing, volleyball competitions, rock bands and beachside clubs. Some beaches are bordered by high dunes and bluffs, or lined with opulent mansions and resorts. The bay waters surrounding the Hamptons, reaching from Westhampton to Montauk Point, are a magnet for boating, fishing and windsurfing. The area abounds with maritime charm, with quaint villages and noted restaurants. Parking and/or non-resident entrance fees are required for most beaches from Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day. Check with the local chamber of commerce, village or town hall for specific fees, as prices may vary.

North Shore & North Fork Beaches

Long Island's North Shore features spectacular and breathtaking beaches on Long Island Sound, including Sunken Meadow State Park in Kings Park, with its wooded acres, hiking, picnicking and three-quarter-mile-long boardwalk along the beach. Its calmer waters are beloved especially by families with small children. Other North Shore beaches feature craggy bluffs and panoramic views of the Sound, including Wildwood State Park with its camping facilities.

The North Fork's stunning beach vistas include Orient Beach State Park, with its rare maritime forest and beach on Gardiner's Bay and lovely Crescent Beach on Shelter Island.

An Island of Fun for Kids

LONG ISLAND IS A GREAT PLACE TO TAKE CHILDREN, ANY TIME OF YEAR. JUST IMAGINE THE FUN THEY'LL HAVE AT A CHILDREN'S MUSEUM, AT A PETTING ZOO, OR AT A STATE PARK WHERE THEY CAN SWIM, HIKE, PLAY SPORTS OR MAKE A CRAFT. HERE'S A SMALL SAMPLING OF ALL THE FUN KIDS CAN HAVE ON A VISIT TO THE ISLAND.

Kid's Adventures

Kids of all ages who love a watery thrill, can dive into summer fun at Splish Splash Water Park in Riverhead, one of the top-rated water parks in the country. Or why not try trapeze lessons at Long Beach or Eisenhower Park. Kids will never forget surfing lessons with qualified instructors at our ocean beaches.

The Adventure Park at Long Island offers tree-top rope courses and zip lines. Find roller coasters and children's rides at Adventureland in Farmingdale and year-round indoor kart racing at Pole Position raceway in Farmingdale.

Museums That Spark the Imagination

Your children can explore the world around them at a host of museums with a major "wow" factor. At Museum Row, the Long Island Children's Museum features about a dozen innovative galleries of interactive exhibits as well as family workshops and live theater performances. Museum Row includes the Cradle of Aviation Museum, with a planetarium/ wide screen theater and the Nassau County Firefighters Museum & Education Center. At the restored Nunley's Historic Carousel, they can ride a painted horse and try to grab the brass ring.

Kids will enjoy the American Airpower Museum, displaying military planes and equipment they can explore up close. The Dolan DNA Learning Center is the world's first biotechnology museum, while Brookhaven National Lab offers 'young scientists' a chance to experiment. The Children's Museum of the

East End in Bridgehampton lets kids discover the island's history with fun, interactive displays. Generations of children have learned about Long Island's natural history and the stars on a visit to the Vanderbilt Museum and Planetarium, and Long Island's early history at Old Bethpage Village Restoration. Or bring them to see historic horse-drawn carriages and fire trucks at the Long Island Museums in Stony Brook. Kids who love trains will love our railroad museums at Riverhead, Greenport and Wantagh.

Animal Adventures

For animal adventures, visit the Long Island Game Farm Wildlife & Children's Zoo, and The Animal Farm & Petting Zoo, with their unique animal collections, both in Manorville, or the Town of Brookhaven Ecology Site, Park and Animal Preserve in Holtsville. Sweetbriar Nature Center in Smithtown has a butterfly vivarium and other animals while Tackapausha Museum in Seaford has natural history displays.

The Long Island Aquarium & Exhibition Center in Riverhead is Long Island's only full-scale aquarium, where kids can explore the undersea world of seals, sea lions, penguins, sharks and other aquatic creatures – and even see butterflies. Go fishing for trout and learn about turtles and other Long Island wildlife at the Cold Spring Harbor Fish Hatchery & Aquarium. You can also go seal watching on guided hikes or aboard heated boats from December to March.

Fun Through the Seasons

There's year-round fun on Long Island for kids, no matter the season. Take them for an adventure with a hike or a craft program at the Fire Island National Seashore or the Theodore Roosevelt Nature Center at Jones Beach State Park. Enjoy a beach day at Zach's Bay in Jones Beach State Park, Sunken Meadow State Park in Kings Park or Orient Beach State Park, where even the youngest children can take a dip in the calm waters. Cast a line from the fishing piers at Jones Beach or at Captree State Park in Babylon, or board a fishing boat at Captree, in Freeport, Hampton Bays and other port communities. During July, August and September, you can catch snapper (baby bluefish) from the piers or a boat, as well as flounder, fluke and other tasty fish.

Autumn means family fun in farm country where kids can pick their own pumpkins, taste seasonal delicacies like roasted corn and apple cider, go on a hay ride or walk through a corn maze or a haunted Halloween maze.

Winter brings opportunities for ice-skating at public rinks indoors at Cantiague Park, outdoors at the Village Center in Port Jefferson and at parks throughout Nassau and Suffolk Counties. In many cases you can rent skates and purchase a hot chocolate to warm up. Sledding is a popular snow-day activity at Bethpage State Park and other parks across Long Island. Many restaurants host Breakfast or Brunch with Santa events throughout the holiday season. And, the Jones Beach Holiday Light Spectacular is an annual treat for youngsters.

In short, you will never run out of great things to do with the kids on a Long Island vacation day.

Have a seaport adventure

To learn more about Long Island's maritime past and present, visit Freeport's Nautical Mile with its working fishing fleet and markets, the Long Island Maritime Museum in West Sayville with its historic boats used locally, or the Cold Spring Harbor Whaling Museum in Cold Spring Harbor. The Sag Harbor Whaling Museum tells the story of one of America's great historic whaling communities. On the North Fork, Greenport's East End Seaport Museum & Marine Foundation delves into a deep-water port's shipping background. The United States Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point on Long Island's North Shore is one of the nation's five service academies, and home to the American Merchant Marine Museum.

Cruise local waters

Explore Long Island's coastline aboard entertainment or nature cruises leaving from the Great South Bay, Manhasset Bay, the Peconic River and other scenic waterways. You can also hop aboard a cruise leaving from a marina or port community. There are dinner, luncheon and brunch cruises; sunset, moonlight, dance, wetland, whale watching and seal watching, sightseeing and charter group cruises for weddings and parties. The boat lines at right feature dining, nature and other special cruises. (Call for directions, times, prices and the type of cruises).

Visit a Historic Lighthouse

Long Island's lighthouses are family-friendly attractions appealing to visitors of all ages -- from small children to older adults. These historic, working aids to navigation for "all the ships at sea" are also educational and fun. They offer sightseers a stunning view when climb to the top.

Several are open to the public. New York State's oldest and most iconic lighthouse is the Montauk Point Light at the eastern tip of the island, which President George Washington himself ordered completed in 1796. Climb its 137 spiral steps for breathtaking views out to sea. Tours are offered March through December. A gift shop, museum and Lost At Sea memorial honoring East End fishermen are also on site.

Another must-see for lighthouse fans: the Fire Island Lighthouse, which has guided ships to New York Harbor since 1826. The keeper's quarters house a museum/gift shop. Tours up the lighthouse's 192-step tower are available throughout the year. A building located next to the lighthouse displays the original First Order Fresnel Lens used for 75 years, and is the temporary home of a timeline recounting the lighthouse's story from its first lighting in 1858.

Other Tower Towns

The Southold Historical Society's Horton Point Lighthouse, built in 1857 by the U.S. Coast Guard at the site originally commissioned by George Washington, has a nautical museum featuring paintings, whaling tools, logbooks and artifacts relating to the sea, sound and bay. It's open on summer weekends.

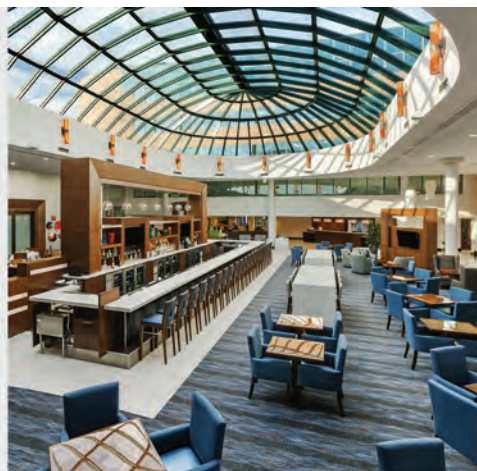

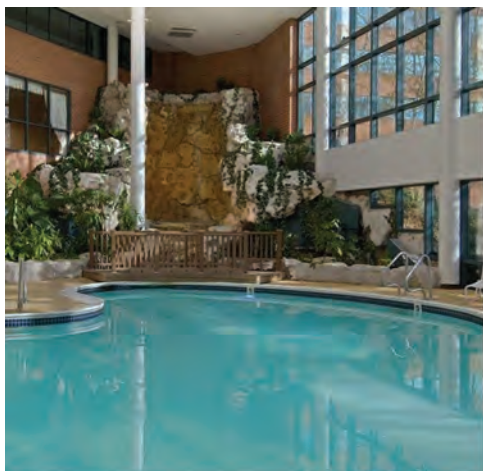

The Huntington Lighthouse Preservation Society offers guided boat tours of the Huntington Harbor Lighthouse, built in 1912. Thousands of craft anchor around the lighthouse for an annual summer music festival. Summer boat tours are also offered to the restored Execution Rocks Lighthouse, standing since 1849 on a tiny island near Sand's Point in the Long Island Sound. For the summer 2015 tower climb schedule visit lighthouserestorations.org.

Cruising to the lighthouse

Those towers are just the "tip of the iceberg" because Long Island boasts over 25 lighthouses, a number of which can be seen on a cruise through local waters. The East End Seaport Museum & Marine Foundation, Skyline Princess Cruises and others offer cruises and excursions to a number of the less accessible towers, such as Stepping Stones in Long Island Sound, and the distinctive Long Beach Bar "Bug" Lighthouse at the entrance to Orient Harbor.

Take a sunrise hike

Long Island is an adventure lover's playland with nearly 60 state and county parks and 40 smaller "passive" parks and preserves. Most are open year-round, including Long Island's 25 state parks spanning tens of thousands of acres. Start your day by getting up before dawn to greet sunrise at Montauk Point or explore huge secluded parcels such as the Mashomack Nature Preserve on Shelter Island, or Long Island's two Greenbelt Trails. Call 631-360-0753 for more Greenbelt Trail information.

Honoring America's Veterans

Veterans, their families, friends and supporters can pay tribute to the sacrifices and contributions made by members of the military at several sites on Long Island. The 9/11 terrorist attacks are also memorialized at local sites.

Veterans Memorial Plaza at Eisenhower Park is a major memorial, which includes a Wall of Honor listing Nassau County veterans, living and deceased; Prisoner of War-Missing in Action and Korean War monuments; memorials to World War II and Medal of Honor and Purple Heart recipients; and tributes to Vietnam Veterans and U.S. soldiers affected by Agent Orange. Also honored in separate areas are Gold Star Parents of deceased veterans, and doctors and nurses who served in war. A 9/11 Memorial remembering Long Islanders who died in the 2001 terrorist attacks, is located on the west side of the park lake. Park entrances are located on Hempstead Turnpike in East Meadow and Stewart Avenue in East Garden City. (516-572-0200)

In Suffolk County, there is a Vietnam Veterans Memorial at the Bald Hill Scenic Overlook on Patchogue-Mt. Sinai Rd. (Rte. 83). Standing 100 feet tall, it is a red, white and blue tapered spire in memory of our Vietnam war dead. It also serves as a tribute to surviving veterans. The parking lot is open year-round.

Armed Forces Plaza on Veterans Memorial Highway in Hauppauge is a monument to those who served during the Korean War (1950-'53) and other conflicts. The monument includes a map of Korea and statues of a soldier and a nurse, the latter representing women veterans. In addition, you will see a World War II monument with a granite Map of the World and the Wall of Honor, with 32 bronze plaques of major U.S. conflicts. The site also includes a Vietnam memorial with a plaque and monuments to Operation Enduring Freedom (Afghanistan) and Operation Iraqi Freedom. A 9/11 Memorial lists all of the Suffolk County residents who lost their lives that day. (631-853-VETS)

Long Islanders have served in all of our nation's wars, and thus many historic towns have their own monuments. The Southold Civil War monument was erected in 1887 to honor local men who fought for the Union. It stands at the intersection of Main Street and Tuckers Lane, Southold.

In Sag Harbor a Civil War Monument is located at the Triangle at Madison and Main Streets. The historic village also includes a World War I monument at Otter Pond and Main Street, and a World War II Monument in Marine Park on Bay Street.

IF YOU HEAR THE Call of the Wild

Look, up in the sky— It's a bird!

The island's native or migrating bird population includes literally hundreds of species, including 33 varieties of wintering waterfowl. They include piping plovers, ospreys, egrets, songbirds, willets, terns, hawks, falcons, eagles and red cardinals. Because Long Island is part of the Atlantic flyway, many migratory birds can be seen at bird-watching locations in Quogue Wildlife Refuge, Mashomack Preserve, Fire Island National Seashore, Robert Moses State Park and Elizabeth Morton National Wildlife Refuge.

Fins & Flippers

For a great family adventure, take a trip to see the seals and whales that swim in our coastal areas. From late fall through early spring, The New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation offers guided walks to observe migrating seals at Montauk Point (631-668-5000) and Jones Beach State Park (516-780-3295). The Coastal Research & Education Society of Long Island offers seal walks on the East End, and summer whale-watching cruises out of Montauk. (631-244-3352) The Riverhead Foundation for Marine Research and Preservation in Riverhead runs seal cruises out of Freeport from December to April. (631-369-9840).

Animal adventures

For animal adventures, visit the Long Island Game Farm Wildlife & Children's Zoo, and The Animal Farm & Petting Zoo, with their unique animal collections, both in Manorville, or the Town of Brookhaven Ecology Site, Park and Animal Preserve in Holtsville.

The Long Island Aquarium & Exhibition Center in Riverhead features Long Island's only full-scale aquarium, where kids can explore the undersea world of seals, sea lions, penguins, sharks and other aquatic creatures – as well as an exhibit of live butterflies.

Visit a 'wildlife oasis'

The Long Island National Wildlife Refuge Complex is comprised of 6,500 acres (seven sites, two refuge sub-units and one wildlife management area) that are part of the National Wildlife Refuge System of public lands and waters. These large tracts have been set aside in perpetuity, to conserve America's fish, wildlife and plants. Each of the refuges within the Long Island complex serves as a "wildlife oasis" and a habitat for migratory birds, threatened and endangered species and other wildlife. The Visitor's Center and Headquarters at the 2,550-acre Wertheim National Wildlife Refuge in Shirley features interactive exhibits, an environmental classroom with a wet lab, a nature store, trails and viewing platforms along the Carmans River.

The other national wildlife refuges are:
Amagansett National Wildlife Refuge,
Amagansett (36 acres)

Conscience Point National Wildlife Refuge,
North Sea (60 acres)

Elizabeth A. Morton National Wildlife Refuge,
Sag Harbor (187 acres)

Lido Beach National Wildlife Refuge,
Long Beach (22 acres)

Oyster Bay National Wildlife Refuge
(3,209 acres)

Target Rock National Wildlife Refuge,
Lloyd Neck (80 acres)

For further information call The Long Island

Flavors of Long Island

Wow, that's fresh!

You're in for a taste sensation when you bite into the veggies and fruit from Long Island farms, and seafood from local waters. Long Island's East End is one of New York State's major agricultural regions, where each year family farms produce a bumper crop of broccoli, cauliflower, apples, peaches and more. Some restaurants specialize in farm-to table dining. Contact the Long Island Farm Bureau, lifb.com, 631-727-3777.

Another local bounty – striped bass, clams, scallops and other seafood varieties – comes from the sea around us. Many great seafood restaurants are located near a local fishing fleet!

The finishing touch for a Long Island meal is, of course, a glass, or bottle, of fine Long Island wine. Red, white, rosé and sparkling wines are all produced in Long Island Wine Country. A restaurant meal featuring great locally produced and served food and wine is a treat not to be missed!

Find out more about Long Island's farm-to-table specialties, epicurean getaways and "foodie" events at discoverlongisland.com/epicurean.

Visiting Long Island Wine Country

When you visit Long Island Wine Country, you'll understand why the island's major wine-producing region is so popular with wine lovers from near and far. Prepare to be dazzled by internationally-recognized Merlot, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon and other fine varietals! Long Island Wine Country offers the complete wine-tasting experience at dozens of wineries with tasting rooms set amid 3,000 acres of vineyards. The Town of Southold on the North Fork is the center but the region also includes the Town of Riverhead, the South Fork, and three wineries in Western Suffolk County.

Most wineries are open year-round for tasting, wine sales, tours and events. Many offer concerts, art exhibits, food pairings, barrel tastings and seasonal activities such as harvest festivals and the Winterfest: Live on the Vine concert and wine-tasting series. For a free winery brochure, call the Long Island Wine Council at 631-722-2220. Information is also available at liwines.com.

IF YOU'RE A Golfer

How's your golf game?

Professional and amateur golfers alike attest to the challenge and variety of Long Island's many courses. You can play everything from pitch-and-putt to 18 holes at dozens of first-rate courses on scenic waterfronts, the legendary Gold Coast, in the fabulous Hamptons and more. Bethpage State Park with its five 18-hole regulation golf courses – the Black, Red, Blue, Green and Yellow – is considered the largest public golf facility in the world. The Black in 2002 became the first publicly owned and operated facility to host the U.S. Open in the golf tournament's 102-year history. The Open returned in 2009, and the course also hosted The Barclays PGA event in 2012.

The private Shinnecock Hills Golf Club in Southampton, founded in 1891 as the first golf club in America, hosted the U.S. Open four times, most recently in 2004. Montauk Downs is considered one of the nation's finest public courses as is the facility at Eisenhower Park in East Meadow.

LONG ISLAND DESTINATION

Weddings

Whether you're getting married in a chapel, on the beach or in a vineyard, you'll find unique reception venues and perfect wedding-photo scenery on Long Island.

Located just east of New York City, Long Island offers extraordinary wedding day options – from vow-taking on a gorgeous white sand beach with a seaside reception, to an outdoor ceremony and feast on a breathtakingly beautiful farm or vineyard in Long Island Wine Country.

Many hotels offer glittering indoor banquet spaces, while independent banquet halls and restaurants can create your fantasy wedding and reception. Gold Coast mansions, waterfront restaurants, historic arboretums, lighthouses, world-famous golf courses with first class banquet facilities – the list of unique wedding and reception spaces goes on and on.

Long Island is part of New York State, which is a Marriage Equality state. The Long Island Convention & Visitors Bureau (LICVB) is a member of the Long Island GLBT Services Network, which is comprised of non-profit organizations serving the Long Island community.

To start planning your special day, contact the LICVB, which can send out a request for pricing/packages to help find the best venue for you. It can also help you secure accommodations for your out-of-town guests, or find transportation and other wedding services. LICVB services are available at no cost. For assistance, call 631-951-3900, or visit discoverlongisland.com/weddings.

North Shore

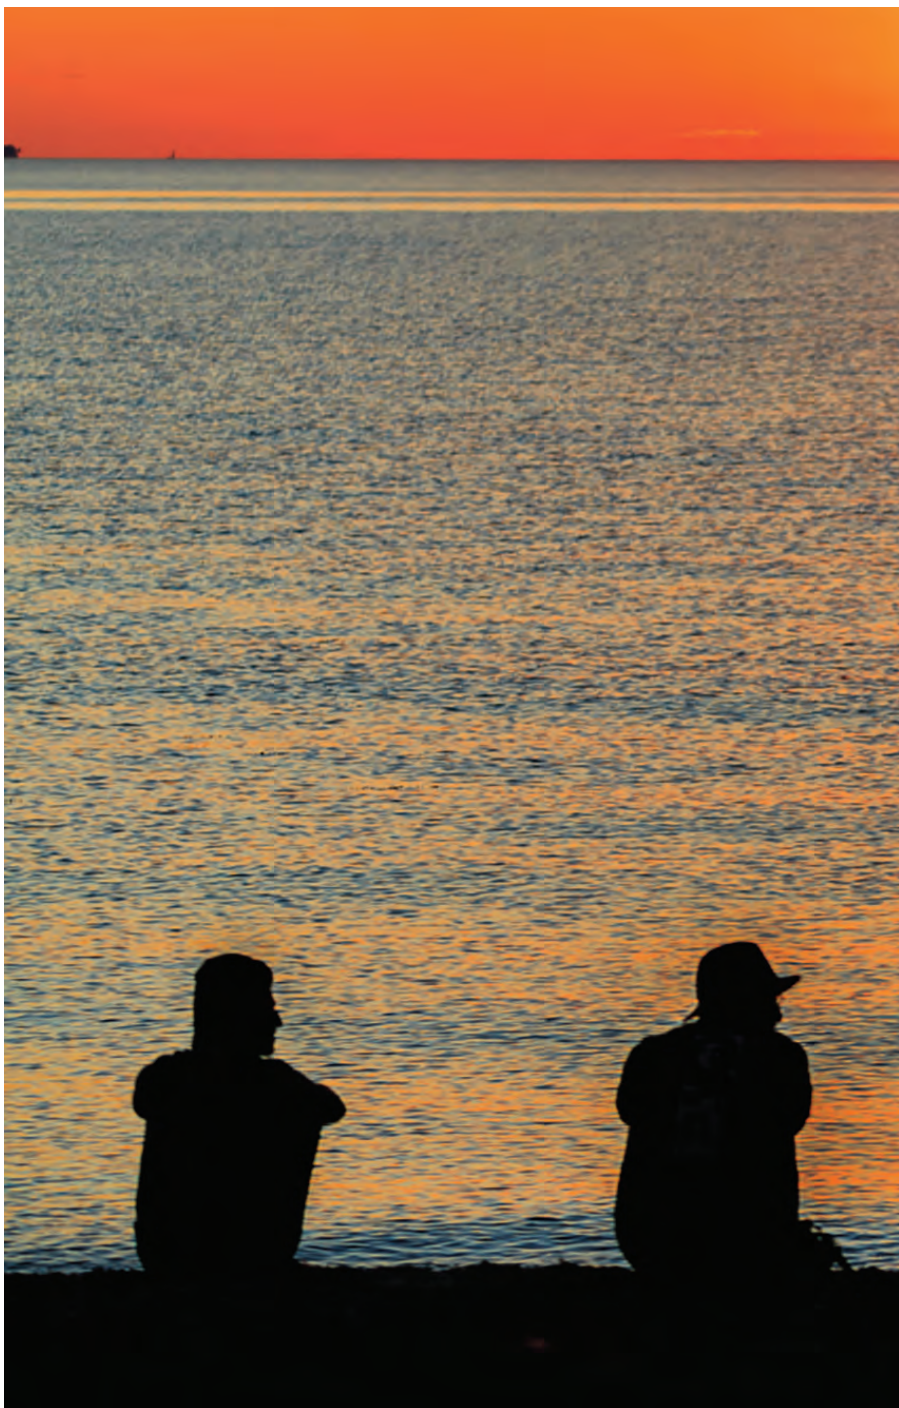

SPIES! DARING PATRIOT RAIDS! BRAVE DEEDS THAT HELPED TURN THE TIDE OF WAR! IF YOU WATCHED AMC'S REVOLUTIONARY WAR SERIES "TURN," YOU KNOW THAT SETAUKET'S CULPER SPY RING WAS AMERICA'S FIRST ESPIONAGE AGENCY, PROVIDING GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON WITH VALUABLE INTELLIGENCE ON BRITISH-HELD LONG ISLAND AND NEW YORK. SETAUKET IS PART OF THE LONG ISLAND HERITAGE TRAIL, FORMERLY KINGS HIGHWAY AND ALSO KNOWN AS THE WASHINGTON SPY TRAIL. IT ENCOMPASSES THE ENTIRE ROUTE 25A CORRIDOR, WHICH STRETCHES ALONG THE ISLAND'S GOLD COAST AND IS A MAJOR PART OF LONG ISLAND'S HISTORY INCLUDING ITS ROLE IN PROHIBITION DURING THE ROARING 20S. THE ROARING 20S WAS OF COURSE THE ERA WHEN F. SCOTT FITZGERALD PENNED HIS CLASSIC NOVEL, "THE GREAT GATSBY," INSPIRED BY THE DECADE'S GLAMOROUS LIFESTYLES. ALSO KNOWN AS THE GOLD COAST, IT CONTAINS SOME OF THE MOST LAVISH MANSIONS EVER BUILT IN THE UNITED STATES, SOME PRESERVED AS MUSEUMS, HISTORIC HOMES OR UNIVERSITY CAMPUSES. THE REGION IS ALSO KNOWN FOR ITS ROCKY BEACHES ON THE LONG ISLAND SOUND, UPSCALE SHOPPING AREAS, PARKS, MUSEUMS AND BEACHES.

Presidents and poets

Among the legendary figures associated with the North Shore are President George Washington, who toured the area in 1790, and poet William Cullen Bryant, whose home is open to the public in Roslyn Harbor. Walt Whitman, widely considered the nation's greatest poet, was born in and wrote his first poetry in the house that is now the Walt Whitman Birthplace State Historic Site and Interpretive Center in West Hills. Theodore Roosevelt, an American hero and the youngest man ever to become U.S. President (at age 43), lived from 1885 until his death in 1919 in what is now Sagamore Hill National Historic Site in Oyster Bay. Sagamore Hill reopens July 12.

Dine and stroll in a historic port

The North Shore's historic ports — Port Washington, Sea Cliff, Oyster Bay, Port Jefferson, Stony Brook and other communities — offer waterfront dining with sailboat-dotted harbor views, nautical museums, shops and restaurants.

Take a shopping trip

From Walt Whitman Shops in Huntington and Smith Haven Mall in Lake Grove, to high-end shops in Great Neck, Cold Spring Harbor and the Americana Manhasset, to the quaint Stony Brook Village, you can find a wide range of merchandise for all tastes — all a quick drive from major roads.

Museums and memorials

Among the region's other attractions, visitors can explore a Whaling Museum, a Holocaust Memorial, museums dedicated to art, history and science, lighthouses, grist mills, a general store, arboretums, university campuses, a DNA learning center, a fish hatchery and a planetarium. The flowers, gardens and landscaped grounds are glorious at Old Westbury Gardens and Planting Fields Arboretum State Historic Park in Oyster Bay. In the Pine Barrens on the east, Wildwood State Park comprises 600 acres of hardwood forest on a high bluff that overlooks Long Island Sound.

South Shore

THE SOUTH SHORE IS ONE OF NEW YORK STATE'S PREMIER FAMILY-ORIENTED RECREATION AREAS. BEGINNING AT THE QUEENS BORDER OF NEW YORK CITY AND STRETCHING FOR NEARLY 50 MILES, IT'S A REGION WITH MILES OF BEACHES, PARKS WITH BOUNDLESS RECREATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES, NATIONALLY KNOWN MALLS AND SUPERB SEAFOOD, ETHNIC AND OTHER RESTAURANTS. YOU CAN ATTEND LEGENDARY SPORTING EVENTS, VISIT UNIQUE MUSEUMS, OR GO FISHING AND BOATING ON THE SOUTH SHORE.

Major Sporting Events

The May-to-October thoroughbred racing season at Belmont Park in Elmont includes the Belmont Stakes in June, the thrilling finale of racing's Triple Crown. Bethpage State Park encompasses five premier golf courses, including the Black course, where the U.S. Open of golf was held in 2002 and again in 2009. The New York Islanders NHL hockey team is playing its final October-to-April season at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum in Uniondale, before moving to Brooklyn after the 2014-15 season concludes. The Long Island Ducks play exciting minor-league ball at Bethpage Ballpark in Central Islip.

One-Stop Museum Hopping

On Museum Row in Central Nassau County, you can pack a world of enjoyment into a single day — especially if you brought the kids along. The Garden City multi-museum complex includes the Long Island Children's Museum; the Cradle of Aviation Museum and its newest attraction, a planetarium; the Nassau County Firefighters Museum & Education Center and Historic Nunley's Carousel.

Multi-Recreational Parks

Looking for wide open spaces to ride a bike, play ball or have a picnic? Try visiting one of our state or county parks. You can also fish, golf, hike, play games and pursue myriad other activities in these grand public facilities, for the price of a small parking fee.

The fun never ends

Spend your day cavorting in a public pool, overnight camping, climbing a lighthouse's steps, or fishing on a boat out of Point Lookout, Freeport or the Captree Boat Basin. See a show at indoor facilities ranging from the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum to the Gateway Playhouse and the Patchogue Theatre for the Performing Arts. Many visitors stop to sample a glass of wine at the region's only winery, in Sayville. The region's four zoos feature domestic farm animals as well as more exotic members of the animal kingdom.

ESCAPE TO Fire Island

Fire Island is located just a brief ferry ride across the Great South Bay from the South Shore communities of Bay Shore, Patchogue and Sayville. The region's most secluded barrier island offers a wide range of tourist attractions within its narrow shores.

It's an internationally known destination with a very relaxed vibe. Especially during the peak season from Memorial Day to Labor Day, crowds gather on breathtakingly beautiful beaches to play in the sun, sand and surf. Restaurants with bay or ocean views serve tasty breakfast, lunch and dinner menus. At bars and nightclubs you can dance, enjoy live music and meet friendly folks. Popular nightspots are located in Ocean Beach, the social and

commercial hub of the island, as well as the traditionally LGBT communities of Cherry Grove and The Pines.

Fire Island's 17 beachfront communities also include Saltaire, Kismet, Lonelyville and Davis Park, which has a 200-boat marina. In true "vacation getaway" fashion, passenger cars are not permitted on the island except in Smith Point County Park and Robert Moses State Park, which bookend the 17 communities. Visitors generally transport supplies across the bay via private boat or ferry and then load them into wagons. Overnight lodgings range from small hotels to B&Bs, and house rentals.

The Fire Island National Seashore (FINS) is also located on the barrier island, and features unique attractions. East of Robert Moses State Park, on the west end of Fire Island, is the historic Fire Island Lighthouse, built in 1826, and still an aid to navigation. The lighthouse building contains a museum and gift shop. Tours of the 192-step tower are offered throughout the year. Another building displays the lighthouse's original Fresnel lens. FINS also contains wilderness trails with plentiful wildlife including deer and foxes, and the Sunken Forest, a maritime woodland estimated to be between 200-300 years old. For information on guided tours, call the Fire Island National Seashore at 631-289-4810. Two marinas, Sailor's Haven and Watch Hill, offer slip rentals to the public, including on an hourly basis. Visitor centers are located at Sailor's Haven and at Watch Hill, the latter featuring a restaurant. And FINS also includes the William Floyd Estate, which is located in Mastic Beach on the mainland and is open for tours in summer.

North Fork

NATURAL BEAUTY, AGRICULTURAL TRADITIONS AND COLONIAL HERITAGE MAKE THIS REGION ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR ON LONG ISLAND. DURING THE SPRING, SUMMER AND FALL, YOU CAN VISIT FARM STANDS TO PICK UP FRESH PRODUCE, FLOWERS AND OTHER FRUITS OF THE HARVEST. A QUIET BEACHFRONT ON THE LONG ISLAND SOUND OR PECONIC BAY IS NEVER FAR AWAY WHEN YOU TRAVEL THIS NARROW STRIP OF LAND. YOU CAN SAVOR THE PRODUCTS OF LONG ISLAND WINE COUNTRY'S GROWING LIST OF VINEYARDS AND WINERIES. THE REGION'S TOP-RATED VINEYARDS, WINERIES AND WINES HAVE EARNED EXCELLENT REVIEWS AND MANY PRIZES.

Local produce

There's educational fun for the whole family with many activities centered around agricultural life. At "pick-your-own" farms, you can gather strawberries in June, tomatoes, peppers, peaches and apples in summer. Enlist the kids to pick pumpkins in an October farm field. Farm stands sell fruit pies, roasted local corn, homemade preserves and other cooked treats. Festivals celebrate local crops such as strawberries and garlic, and products such as wine.

Gateway to the East End

The commercial center is Riverhead, an emerging tourist destination where major attractions include Splish Splash Water Park, Riverhead Raceway, the Long Island Aquarium & Exhibition Center, and the Suffolk Theater, a 500-seat Art Deco concert hall inside a restored 1930s theater building. The Tanger Outlet Center just off I-495 features more than 165 brand-name outlets. Nearby quaint villages feature antique shops, country stores and specialty food shops. The Shopkeepers are happy to suggest cheeses, chocolate and fruit which can be paired deliciously with local wines. Communities such as Orient, Shelter Island, Cutchogue, Mattituck, Riverhead and Southold maintain historical heritage sites dating to the Colonial Period, a number of which are open to visitors.

On the Harbor

In Greenport, you can enjoy seafood at harborfront restaurants and shopping in arts & crafts galleries in one of Long Island's historic deepwater ports. Attractions include an enclosed all-weather carousel on the harbor, and the East End Seaport Museum & Marine Foundation. A ferry makes regular trips to picturesque Shelter Island, with its charming bed & breakfast inns and 2,039-acre Mashomack Preserve. Although the North Fork is accessible by public roads and transportation, many visitors arrive via a scenic ferry ride to Orient Point from New London, Conn..

Tour the Vineyards

Since the first small vineyard was planted more than 40 years ago in Cutchogue, the Long Island Wine Industry has grown to encompass 3,000 acres of vines and about four dozen wineries with tasting rooms.

More recently, the region has been receiving international acclaim. Wine Enthusiast magazine named it one of the "Ten Best Wine Travel Destinations," placing it among the world's best known and well-respected wine regions. Long Island Wine Country has been recognized not only for wonderful wines, talented wine makers, vineyards and winery tasting rooms, but also for its special atmosphere of warm hospitality, gorgeous scenery and world-class wine-drinking experience.

Merlot, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon, Riesling, Shiraz and many other varietals are available for tasting and purchase in the towns of Southold – the center of wine country – the Town of Riverhead and Sayville on the South Shore. New wineries recently opened in St. James and Head-of-the Harbor on the North Shore and Greenport on the North Fork.

Most wineries are open year-round for tasting and special events. Many offer tours that take you through lush vineyards and inside wine cellars. Finish with a glass or bottle of red, white,

Champagne or rose in elegant tasting rooms or on a deck or picnic table overlooking the vineyard.

Call to confirm hours and days of operation before your trip, or visit discoverlongisland.com. For a free winery guide, call the Long Island Wine Council at 631-722-2220 or write P. O. Box 74, Peconic, NY 11958. You can also get information online from the wine council website, liwines.com. E2, G2, H1, I1

Shelter Island

Nestled in the bay between Long Island's North and South Forks, this tranquil getaway is accessible by a modern, 10-minute auto/passenger ferry ride from either Greenport on the North Fork, or North Haven near Sag Harbor on the South Fork. A delightful New England atmosphere and unhurried pace define this island of scenic shorelines, rolling hills, pristine white sand bay beaches, country inns and lodges. Spend your day shopping at boutiques, dining in fine restaurants, playing golf or tennis, or swimming or boating in protected harbors. Self-guided tours are available at Sylvester Manor, a historic plantation where the owners kept slaves from its founding in 1652 until 1820. The manor is now an arts and education center and educational farm with its own organic farm stand (631-749-0626). Nature enthusiasts can hike, participate in group tours and see educational displays at the 2,039-acre Mashomack Nature Preserve (631-749-1001). For further information about Shelter Island call the Chamber of Commerce at 877-893-2290. 11

Quaint villages and farm stands

Old-fashioned retailing thrives in the North Fork's quaint shops and farm stands. North Fork villages such as Aquebogue, Jamesport, Laurel, Mattituck, New Suffolk, Cutchogue, Peconic, Southold, Greenport, East Marion and Orient offer shopping along charming country roads. Roadside farm stands, another feature of this agriculturally rich region, include Harbes Family Farms in Mattituck and Jamesport, Gabrielson's in Aquebogue, Krupski's in Peconic, Wickham's Fruit Farm in Cutchogue, and others. The stands sell fresh produce, flowers and other farm products, including "pick-your-own" strawberries and pumpkins in season, and they feature special promotions such as fall festivals, hayrides and corn mazes. The North Fork region is also the center of Long Island Wine Country. For more information, call the North Fork Promotion Council at 631-298-5757; northfork.org. G2, H1, I1

Windmills

The East End's beautiful scenery not only features beaches, farmland and picturesque villages, but also rare and historic wooden windmills, 11 of which survive from the late 1700s and early 1800s.

With oversized blades and wood-shingle construction, the East End's windmills were originally created by skilled artisans to convert wind into energy through the rotation of a wheel powered by the blades.

Windmills show what Long Island's past was like, and also provide a history and science lesson for children. Although modern technology put most windmills out of business, interest in wind technology is enjoying resurgence as an energy-efficient alternative to fossil fuels. In some cases, windmill museums allow children to participate in hands-on activities.

The following are some of the restored historic East End windmills currently available for public viewing:

East Hampton – The Pantigo Windmill, Hook Mill and Gardiner Windmill.

For visitor information, call Home Sweet Home Museum, 631-324-0713. J2

Bridgehampton – The restored Beebe Windmill (1820) is located at Ocean and Hildreth roads. For information about tours, call the Bridgehampton Historical Society, 631-537-1088. I2

Fishing

The South Fork offers anglers of all ages the opportunity to fish in canals, sheltered bays and the wide ocean. You can drop a fishing line in the Shinnecock Canal, or board a charter boat in Hampton Bays, a historic commercial and sportfishing capital located between the Atlantic Ocean and Shinnecock and Peconic Bays. Other places to fish include Sag Harbor, and Three Mile Harbor in East Hampton. However, the best known South Fork attraction for anglers is Montauk. Charter and open boats leave Montauk for the open ocean to seek big gamefish such as tuna and sharks. And one of the great surf-casting spots in the world is found at the foot of the Montauk Point Lighthouse. On many a fall day, dozens of anglers cast from the rocky shoreline for striped bass and bluefish.

Shopping

Shoppers have many choices on the South Fork. Communities such as Southampton, East Hampton, Westhampton, Westhampton Beach, Bridgehampton, Water Mill, Quogue, Sag Harbor, Amagansett and Montauk feature downtown shopping areas. You can pick up anything from a jar of fresh preserves to original art, antiques or the latest fashions from top designers. In summer you'll find swimwear, sporting goods and more for a splendid beach day.

Hamptons Wild Side

Camping on the Beach is allowed at Montauk County Park in Montauk or Shinnecock East County Park in Southampton. (Camping only in self-contained vehicles with hot-and-cold running water and a flushable toilet -- no tents permitted). Montauk County Park features hiking, biking, canoeing, picnicking and fishing (631-852-7878; Camping: 631-852-7879); and is also home to Deep Hollow Ranch, the nation's oldest cattle ranch, known as "the birthplace of the American cowboy." Trail rides are offered on the beach and through the park. (631-668-2744). In addition to beach-camping, Shinnecock East County Park permits saltwater fishing and off-road recreational vehicle use; permits are required (631-852-8899) K1, H2

Oceanfront camping at Hither Hills State Park in Montauk is so popular that all campsites are usually reserved well in advance of the summer season. But you can still enjoy this seaside park for the day at the picnic area and lifeguarded beach. (631-668-2554) K1

Inland camping in a tent is permitted at Cedar Point County Park in East Hampton. (631-852-7620; Camping 631-244-7275) I2

Hike through a rare habitat at the 290-acre Dwarf Pine Plains County Preserve in Westhampton, offering a rare opportunity for nature lovers to learn about natural habitats. Dwarf Pine Plain communities are rare ecosystems and the preserve is home to rare wildlife species including the black-throated green warbler, American kestrels and marsh hawks as well as screech, northern saw-whet and long-eared owls, nighthawks and whippoorwills. Admission is free, but don't forget to wear protective clothing and repellent to ward off ticks. (suffolkcountyny.gov) G2

Take a trek through the Elizabeth A. Morton National Wildlife Refuge, a beautiful 187-acre waterfront preserve in Sag Harbor. Along the trail, there are small birds (including chickadees) that will land right in the palm of your hand to eat seeds. If you want to experience this unforgettable experience, make sure to bring unsalted sunflower seeds and never throw or leave seeds on the ground, which attracts rodents. Situated on a peninsula surrounded by Noyack and Little Peconic Bays, the refuge is an important habitat for shorebirds, raptors and songbirds. Partial beach closures are in effect from April-September to protect nesting birds. (631-286-0485) I1

Montauk

Montauk, a famous resort town located just east of the Hamptons, combines both trendy and traditional attractions. Watching sunrise from a Montauk beach is a longstanding tradition.

The End, as Montauk is nicknamed, features trendy nightlife clubs, upscale restaurants, ritzy lodgings and yacht-filled marinas. But in Montauk you can also enjoy more modest pleasures. You can go fishing for fluke, striped bass, shark and other gamefish. You can go horseback riding on the beach, sightseeing at the Montauk Point Lighthouse or shopping in an open-air market.

At restaurants right on the waterfront, you can order some of the freshest seafood you'll find anywhere – lobster being a local specialty.

Montauk is an international seaside resort community with outstanding beaches, golf, fishing and boating. The Montauk area is also home to several state parks and one of Long Island's most famous landmarks, the Montauk Point Lighthouse. Montauk Point's dazzling coast attracts surfers, hikers and anglers who cast from the rocky, windswept beach. Whether you are taking a tranquil walk along the beach at sunrise, or dining alfresco as the sun sets on the horizon, the views and serenity of the waterfront are sure to launch a daydream or two about maybe extending your visit here on Long Island a little longer. K1

Hamptons Beaches

Hamptons beaches are heralded as some of the best in the world, offering visitors 50 miles of uncrowded fun in the sand. Their reputation goes beyond the local scene to attract national recognition. Stephen P. Leatherman (aka Dr. Beach) of Florida International University has rated Coopers Beach in Southampton and Main Beach in East Hampton among the top 10 beaches in America.

Bordered by high dunes and bluffs, many beaches are lined with opulent mansions and award-winning resorts, denoting the Hamptons' exclusive aura. The bay waters surrounding the Hamptons, reaching from Westhampton to Montauk Point, are also a magnet for boating, fishing and windsurfing.

Parking and/or non-resident entrance fees are required for most beaches from Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day.

Check with the local chamber of commerce, village or town hall for specific fees, as prices may vary.
