*Henry Ward Beecher . Probably the political and social reformer and prominent clergyman in nineteenth century America.

Mr. Blunt. Probably George Blunt, son of Edmund March Blunt. He and his brother, Edmund, the younger, devoted their lives to charting and the sea. George became a publisher of charts and nautical books in NY. Revised the American Coast Pilot several time and was a major force behind causing the federal government to organize the Lighthouse Board. After the death of his father in 1862 and his brother in 1867, he sold the copyright for American Coast Pilot to the U.S. Coast Survey.

www.msa.md.gov/msa/scpecol/sc2200/sc2269/html/cartographers.html

Mr. Bowditch. Probably Jonathan Ingersoll Bowditch, son of Nathaniel. In 1868 the newly organized U.S. Navy Hydrographic Office bought the copyright to The New American Practical Navigator.

Ships

Bache, Coast Survey Schooner Caswell, Schooner Dana, Schooner Endeuvior (?), Steamer H. Livingston Martin's Industry, Light Ship Moscosin (?), Steamer

George M. Bache. Possibly the second schooner named after George M. Bache. Lieutenant George M. Bache, USN, was a brother of Alexander Dallas Bache, second Superintendent of the Coast Survey.

Caswell. Named for Alexis Caswell (1799-1877), Professor of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy at Brown University from 1828-1863; President of Brown from 1868-1872; then a trustee.

Dana. Named for American geologist James Dwight Dana, 1813-1895.

Endeavor. Originally built during the Civil War as a Confederate gunboat and named the Lady Davis. While still on stocks, set on fire and damaged when Union forces captured Norfolk. Vessel completed and named General Curtis. Eventually sold to the Coast Survey for $20 on March 8, 1867. Renamed Endeavor.
