Biographical Note

Aaron Robert “Babe” Schwartz, Texas state senator, lawyer, and professor, was born to Russian immigrant parents in Galveston, Texas on July 17, 1926. He married wife Marilyn in July 1951. They have four sons, twelve grandchildren, and two great grandchildren. He grew up on Galveston Island and held numerous jobs involving the water and the beach, including working as a beach chair rentalist and lifeguard. After graduating from Ball High School in Galveston he attended Texas A&M University for two semesters, but decided leave the university and enlist in the Navy from 1944-1946. After WWII he returned to Texas A&M University, changed his major to pre-law, and graduated in 1948.

Schwartz attended the University of Texas School of Law from 1948-1951. As a student he worked for the chief clerk for the Texas House of Representative and the Legislative Council, giving Schwartz his first introduction to the state Legislature. After graduating, Schwartz returned to Galveston to work in the Galveston County attorney's office as a prosecutor from 1951 to 1955, but returned to Austin as an elected Representative. He was elected to the Texas House of Representatives from 1955-1959. During a special election he won a seat in the Texas senate and served from 1960 until 1981, when he lost the election to friend Buster Brown.

In 1996 Schwartz began teaching courses at the University of Houston Law Center, where he was hired as an adjunct professor. For the fall semesters of 1996 and 1997 he taught Legislation. During the fall semesters from 1998-2004 he taught Ocean and Coastal Law at U of H. For three semesters, including the spring 2004 semester, he taught Ocean and Coastal Law in person and over video as a visiting lecturer at Texas A&M Corpus Christi and at Texas A&M Galveston. Schwartz also taught Ocean and Coastal Law at the University of Texas at Austin Law School during the fall 2009 semester.

Since 1981 he has served as a lobbyist, which includes lobbying for environmental projects and causes. Schwartz is well known for his protection of the Open Beaches Act, which protects public access to state beaches. He is also known for creation of the Windstorm Insurance Program, the Oil Spill Bill, and his protection of the coastal environment which includes and wetland, dune, and pollution protection. He later helped to create the Sea Grant Program at Texas A&M and contributed to the formation of Texas A&M University at Galveston, in addition to assisting in the creation of numerous other organizations and educational institutes. Schwartz currently lives in Austin, Texas with his wife Marilyn.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of papers produced or collected by Schwartz. It primarily documents subjects related to his local and coastal activism in the Galveston county area and his time as a professor teaching a both a Legislation course and an Ocean and Coastal Law course. The papers mainly consist of correspondence, reports, articles, photographs, publications, ephemera, court cases, and a scrapbook. The collection is divided into seven series: correspondence, teaching files, organizations and committees, subject files, printed materials, Patricia Gray files, and photographs.

Subjects covered include the Open Beaches Act, coastal management, erosion, oil spills, and wetlands. Organizations include the Galveston Bay Foundation, the National Ocean and Atmospheric Administration, The Texas Coastal Coordination Council, and the Interim Committee on Coastline Rehabilitation. The course material covers the Legislation course taught at U of H and the Ocean and Coastal Law course taught at U of H, Texas A&M Corpus Christi, and Texas A&M Galveston.

Detailed Description of the Collection

Box 1

Series 1: Correspondence

Arranged by correspondent, then by year within each folder in two subseries.

These are the correspondence files involving Schwartz. These include correspondence to and from him, as well as e-mails where he was cc'd. Correspondence not directly involving him was included in his papers and cover subjects such as open beach access. Any relevant attachments were left with the correspondence. The correspondence files are in the form of e-mail, typed letters, handwritten notes, and faxes. Subjects covered include the Open Beaches Act and the fight over Galveston's beaches, beach erosion, and geotubes. For other correspondence files researchers may want to consult Series 2 (Teaching Files) for information about the creation and format of courses taught and Series 6 (Patricia Gray) for correspondence involving Patricia Gray, Chet Brooks, and the Interim Committee on Coastline Rehabilitation.

1.1 Schwartz Correspondence

1.1.1 To Schwartz, 1967, 1998, 1999, 2001-2006, undated

1.1.2 From Schwartz, 1999-2006

1.2 Miscellaneous Correspondence

1.2.1 Miscellaneous Correspondence, 2000-2004, 2006

Series 2: Teaching Files

Arranged by class title with an additional subseries for course handouts in three subseries. Material relating to the courses Schwartz taught at the University of Houston Law School, Texas A&M Corpus Christi, and Texas A&M Galveston. This series is organized into three subseries and includes the courses taught and course handouts. This series includes correspondence about the creation and success of these courses, syllabi, lesson plans, and supplemental materials for the courses. The course handouts came from binders labeled MARS, which indicates an A&M Galveston course number. We cannot confirm the classes or locations where the course handout materials were used, so they are divided by subject and added to the course handouts subseries. A few packets of supplemental materials were stapled to lesson plans. Attached materials were removed and organized with the rest of the collection by subject.

2.1 2 Legislation Course 5397, University of Houston

Schwartz taught two courses at the University of Houston Law Center. Legislation was taught during the fall semesters of 1996 and 1997. There is limited information about course materials and lesson plans.

2.1.1 U of H course correspondence, 1995-1997, undated

- 2.1.2 Syllabus and course materials, 1996-1997, undated
- 2.1.3 Course handouts

2.2 Coastal and Ocean Law Course

This course, titled Ocean and Coastal Law, was taught at the University of Houston Law Center from 1998-2004 and The University of Texas at Austin Law School during the fall 1999 semester. It was also taught at the Texas A&M Corpus Christi and Galveston campuses during the spring 2004 semester, in addition to two other semesters (dates unknown). Lesson plans are organized by date, if listed. For identical lesson plans taught on multiple dates, the range of dates can be found written in pencil on the back of the plan. These notations were added by staff.

- 2.2.1 Coastal and Ocean Law Course Correspondence, 2004
- 2.2.2 Syllabus and Lesson Plans, 2000, 2003-2004, undated
- 2.2.3 Final exam questions and examples, 2001, 2003-2004
- 2.2.4 Exams, TAMUCC/TAMUG, 2004
- 2.2.5 Ocean and Coastal Law evaluations (U of H), 1996, 2002-2004

2.3 Course Handouts

Organized alphabetically, by subject. These course handouts were primarily in folders and binders labeled Ocean and Coastal Law. Ports, Cases, and Fisheries are folder labels created by Schwartz and were transferred over to new folders.

- 2.3.1 Beach nourishment
- 2.3.2 Bills (some OVERSIZE-Box 10)
- 2.3.3 Cases (some OVERSIZE-Box 10)
- 2.3.4 Coastal Management Programs
- 2.3.5 Erosion
- 2.3.6 Fisheries

Series 6: Patricia Gray Files

Arranged in original order in two subseries. Material received or collected by Patricia Gray. This material came from a binder labeled Patricia Gray and came in with the rest of the Schwartz materials. Original order of materials and divider labels have been maintained. Labels for correspondence and loose papers were the only labels created by the processor. The correspondence to and from Chet Brooks was included in the Patricia Gray Binder, and therefore has been left with the rest of the binder materials. There is also a letter to Peter Bowman from Patricia Gray concerning the Minnie B. Feinman case.

Patricia Gray served six terms in the Texas House of Representatives, from 1992-2003. She was a member of the Interim Committee on Coastline Rehabilitation, and these materials are primarily related to this committee. She was also one of the attorneys for the appellants in the Minnie B. Feinman v. Texas case.

6.1 Patricia Gray Correspondence

Series 7: Photographs

Arranged in three subseries. Photos were removed from their original photo albums and moved to folders with labels that indicate which album they were taken from. Very few of the photographs have subjects or descriptions indicated. Loose photos and reproductions were removed from envelopes.

7.1 Photo Books

The black photo album has four photographs of Galveston Island. One photograph has the date '98 written on the back. Topics include Bermuda Beach, Seascape and Dellanera, Dellanera Park geotube, eroded geotube, new sand dune, and Jamaica Beach. The purple album has labels that include Karisma House, numerous photos labeled '98, Pirates Beach, east end of Spanish Grant, and one photo labeled 2002. The blue photo album includes the labels geotube and sand sock. One picture is labeled '98. These subjects and dates are not necessarily inclusive of all subjects and dates, but indicate labels written on the back of photographs.

Box 9 (oversize scrapbook box)

7.3 William Howard Clayton scrapbook, 1971-1987

William H. Clayton served as president of Texas A&M Galveston. The William Howard Clayton scrapbook contains newspaper articles, primarily concerning the creation, activities, and Texas Clipper voyages of what is now known as Texas A&M University at Galveston. The school has been known as the Texas Maritime Academy and Moody College. Of particular interest is an article titled "Schwartz to Introduce Bill Calling for TAMU at Galveston Designation" from 11/11/1979. The scrapbook also contains mentions of Schwartz's wife, Marilyn Schwartz.

*Note: Box 10 contains oversize materials from Series 2 and Series 4. Box 11 contains oversize plaques from Series 8.
